About Barrenjoey

Barrenjoey is a proudly Australian financial services firm. We're majority staff-owned and locally managed, with global reach through our strategic partnership with Barclays. We're a dynamic, entrepreneurial company, aiming to deliver great ideas and results for our clients. We're also passionate about driving positive social outcomes for communities. Barrenjoey officially launched in September 2020 with the capital and funding support of our foundation investors, Magellan and Barclays. Today, we employ over 250 people and have teams based in Sydney, Melbourne and Perth.

About the Job

Barrenjoey is looking for a junior trader to join our Fixed Income derivatives trading team. We are inviting applications from recent graduates. Although no prior work experience is required, the successful candidate should have a strong interest in financial markets.

You will join Barrenjoey in 2023 on a full-time basis or a minimum of 4 days a week if you are completing your degree in 2023. You will join Barrenjoey's graduate program which will give you the opportunity to build a valuable network of peers as you navigate the first steps in your career.

Initially, your responsibilities will include helping the swaps desk traders manage trading risks, including performing trade bookings and risk reconciliations during the Sydney and early London sessions. The role will include analysis of curve calibration working with the quant team, performing in depth analysis of market changes, and developing business tools to enhance efficiency.

You will work closely with senior traders and will develop a strong understanding of interest rate swap workflows, pricing and market dynamics with a view to becoming a successful swaps trader as your responsibilities expand.

Although you will specialise in interest rate swaps, as a member of the Fixed Income team you will also be trained on bond and inflation trading, and in time will provide trading back-up across a range of Fixed Income desks as required.
